¹ Hearing screenings are quick and cost effective pass/fail tests to find out if you need an in-depth evaluation for hearing loss.

² Hearing exams (assessments) determine the degree of hearing loss, the type of hearing loss, and the configuration of hearing loss and are conducted in a soundproof booth.

³ Some states have laws that require consumers to be told about telecoils in hearing aids when they purchase the hearing aid: Arizona, Florida, New York, as of 1/09.
